

TALES OF TWO INNS.

ONE'S CAREER HAS CLOSED; THE OTHER'S IS TO BEGIN.

The Famous Old Resort at Fire Island Which Has Been Converted Into a Place of Detention for Travelers—New York's Mammoth Hotel.

Two hotels are just now being talked about—one for its sensational prominence and the other for its sensational promise. The first has closed its career as a resort for wealth and beauty, the other has yet to test its claims to popularity. The former is the famous Fire Island tavern, which for over a generation has been the summer resort of rich and conservative people who love their "ease with dignity." When the place was sold to the state of New York and practically turned into a quarantine station some of the old timers nearly wept, and bemoaned the fact that a house they regarded almost as home would shelter them no more.

They were almost as indignant against Landlord Sammis for disposing of the property as were the people of Islip, who feared possible contact with the cholera. But Mr. Sammis is seventy-three years of age and thinks he knows his own business better than any one else. He doesn't care to keep hotel any longer, and he thought the price offered him—$210,000—a fair one. So he retired and smiled when the guests "kicked" before leaving, and the clam diggers burned him in effigy and called him cholera's friend. As he remarked, "I have done the square thing all my life and am too old now to continue business or to mind a little foolish abuse."

David S. S. Sammis was born in Huntington, Suffolk county, N. Y., and worked on his father's farm until eighteen years of age. Then he went to New York city with the intention of learning the drug trade. As this did not agree with his health, he took to stage coaching for seven years and then opened a grocery at Forsyth and Delancey streets. Later he established the East Broadway House, at East Broadway and Pike streets. After being in New York about sixteen years he started a small chowder house on Fire Island. That was in 1855. He had an idea that a small place near the ocean and not too far from New York would prove to be a favorite resort. Chowder clubs were all the rage in those days, and that sort of pleasure seekers loved to get "way off" where they could have a good frolic all by themselves. Of course Fire Island was just the place for such fellows. There used to be very lively parties come down from the city, and they would eat their fill of chowder and drink their fill of champagne. As many as 150 would dine there on a Sunday.

The first prominent man to visit there was the late James Gordon Bennett, who went down in a sailboat from New York, accompanied by his wife and his wife's sister. He stayed four or five days. He was not at all convivial, and spent much of his time reading books. He liked the place so well that he wrote a letter about it to The Herald, the first newspaper correspondence that was ever sent from that place. The letter caused a great rush of visitors, and the hotel filled up at once.

Now the quaint old hotel is turned into a place of confinement for people from Europe who are suspected of carrying contagion with them.

HOTEL CHAMBERLAIN.

The new structure referred to above is to rise on the site of the Hotel Royal, that ill-fated house whose destruction by fire and attendant loss of life shocked New York and all the country as well. It is to be known as the Chamberlain and will be seventeen stories tall and contain 318 guest rooms.

The ground has a frontage of 100 feet on Fortieth street and 60 feet on Sixth avenue.

The structure will take up all the property except a four foot strip on the Fortieth street side. The exterior has been designed to be at once handsome and characteristic. The first four floors will be of Indiana limestone, neatly ornamented; the portion above that will be of buff brick with terra cotta trimmings.

The projectors intend that it shall be thoroughly fireproof.

What is the Electropoise?
and What Will it Do?

The Electropoise has been in use for four years, and is well known in some sections of the United States, but there are a great many sufferers that have never heard the name. Those that have heard of it and seen something of its wonderful power are curious to know how an instrument so small and so simple can accomplish such great results. Now, while the Electropoise is very wonderful, it is not at all mysterious. Its operation falls in with what we know of science, and any one who is familiar with the simplest facts of Biology and Physics can understand.

HOW IT OPERATES.—The way in which the Electropoise accomplishes its cure is very simple and natural. It consists of a polarizer, which is connected by a woven wire cord with a small plate and a battery. This polarizer is immersed in cold water, or put on ice. The plate at the other end of the cord is attached to the warm body of the patient, generally at the ankle. From the inherent nature of this polarizer it becomes negatively charged. By the well-known laws of induction, the plate, and with it the body of the patient, becomes positively charged. The body thereby becomes a centre of attraction for negative bodies. Oxygen is the most negative form of matter in nature. Hence the body, bathed in the atmosphere, drinks in the life-giving oxygen at every pore. Every process of life is thereby quickened. The temperature rises; the pulse throbs with a fuller beat; the skin tingles with new life; every organ acts with renewed vigor, and the effects poisonous products of the body are thrown off with ease.

That quickened change of matter which oxygen produces throughout the system is accompanied by a largely increased generation of Nervous Force. Organs half dead and stagnant are born again, and begin to perform their wonted functions. The heart, the lungs, the liver, the organs of the external senses, the organs of reproduction—all these throw off their derangement and weakness, and even the diseased intellect is oft-times re-enthroned. Where disease has not already made too great ravages, restoration to perfect health is inevitable. The Electropoise is generally used at night while the patient is asleep, but may be applied, of course, at any time, and to several persons during the twenty-four hours. It will last a life-time, never wears out nor loses its strength, never needs mending nor recharging.

One in each family will render that family largely independent of doctors and druggists, and thus will save every year many times its small cost.

NOT AN ELECTRICAL APPLIANCE.—The Electropoise is not in any way akin to the numerous electrical appliances, such as belts, masses, corsets, shields, etc., palmed off upon the public. It has no method of generating a current, nor means of conducting one. It acts upon well-known biological principles, and is heartily endorsed by many of the best physicians in this and other countries, and is daily used by them in their practice. It is pronounced by them the greatest discovery in the history of medicine, in that it does away with the use of medicines.

DIRECTIONS FOR USING.—Accompanying the instrument is a book of instructions fully explaining its uses. Its method of cure is so simple and free from danger, that the uninitiated or young children can use it with perfect ease and success.

Editorial in Boston Christian Witness and Advocate of Bible Beliefs, September 3, 1891.
"A method of treatment of disease without the use of any medicines or drugs, which has been quickly extending itself over all parts of the United States during the past three years with very gratifying results."
"We are slow to commend new discoveries of any kind, for the reason that so many of them prove to be worthless. But we can commend the Electropoise as a safe and effective health restorer. We do not pretend to explain the philosophy of its workings, but, having realized its beneficial effects, we can speak of its results. About one year ago we recommended it to Dr. J. D. Ware, of Philadelphia, for his son, who was a great sufferer from Sciatica. He had sought relief in various ways and found none. He was almost helpless, and rapidly declining. The use of the Electropoise restored him to perfect health, and now, after nearly a year, he is rejecting as one who has found great relief. We have seen testimonials of most remarkable cures. This notice of the Electropoise is without solicitation, and entirely gratuitous. We do it for the good of the afflicted. We have no personal interest in it, and are not paid for what we say in its favor."

The following editorial in Central Methodist, Castletown, Ky., was written by Zephaniah Meek, D. D., editor:
"Unless about ten thousand men, mainly professional men, lawyers, doctors, editors, preachers, and all other classes, including the writer, are very much mistaken, the Electro-poise effects cures and gives relief where all other known remedies have failed. Especially is it efficacious in the case of delicate women and feeble children. I have used one for the past two years, and find it invaluable as a curative agent."
Names of prominent people in all sections of the U. S. generally can be furnished on application. Our cures cover all parts of the United States and Europe. Over 50,000 people have been treated, with the most gratifying results. In the large majority of cases the cures have been speedy, but our claims are modest, and in long-standing chronic cases you cannot expect speedy cures. We positively refuse to sell the Electropoise in hopeless cases.
